

When we feed in, 'X' and 'O'. Then there will be some element in the vector that will be high. Consider the image below, as you can see for 'X' there are different elements that are high and similarly, for 'O' we have different elements that are high.

