How CNN Works?

CNN compares the images piece by piece. The pieces that it looks for are called features. By finding rough feature matches, in roughly the same position in two images, CNN gets a lot better at seeing similarity than whole-image matching schemes.

